

SC VOTE TODAY AND TOMORROW

Arthur Sultan Candidate for President

Arthur Phillips Sultan is a 20 year-old junior from Woodmere, N.Y. He has been on the dean's list for four semesters and is a Dana Scholar.

Extracurricular Activities:

1. Editor of Helicon - 2 years.
2. Coordinator of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations.
3. Past Member: Men's Senate.
4. Past Member: Alumni Hall Board of Directors.
5. Student Council: 2 years
  - a. Chairman, Discipline and Ethics Committee, serving as the single student representative on the University Discipline Comm., which is concerned with all ethics and discipline violations.
  - b. Co-Chairman of the Student Life Committee, which was responsible for the changing of the regulations for off-campus students, including the requirement of 24 hours notice before inspection.
6. Lt. Governor of the New England District of Circle K, which is the college division of Kiwanis International.
7. Political Relations Forum - Junior Delegate C.I.S.L. - 1961.
8. The Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Sultan made the following statement:

After serving on Student Council since last January, I feel that there are two basic changes that must be made, and have offered amendments to the Student Council Constitution for these changes. Primarily, I have proposed that the President of the Student Council be required to form a coordinating committee, which is to be made up of the heads of every major organization on campus. This would include the Editor of the Scribe, heads of governing bodies, heads of religious organizations, and several interested students. This committee would meet bi-monthly to help plan and work for the general good of the student body. Too often organizations plan activities that conflict with the plans of other organizations, hurting both. This committee will remove this overlap and provide more activities in perspective.

U. of Texas Staff Fired

(UPI) The entire editorial staff of the University of Texas campus humor magazine was fired not too long ago using a dirty word in their regular monthly issue.

Jack Lowe of Henderson, Tex., dismissed as editor of the Texas Ranger by the University Board of Student Publication, said the board apparently "caught on" that an indecent word was "partially concealed in some sketches" that appeared in the magazine. The board said Lowe and his staff were dismissed "because of violations of the general policy of the board of Publications and for indecency in the issue in question."

Neither the magazine staff nor the board identified the dirty word.

ED. NOTE: Now what they should have done is this: Take the dirty word they wanted to see in print, "conceal" it in some sort of verse and send it to the editors of Helicon, the most subtle dirty word concealers on the East Coast.

SC ELECTIONS

Vote today and tomorrow for the SC CANDIDATE of your choice from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. in ROOM 104 (across from the game room) of the STUDENT CENTER. ID CARDS are required for voters.

"From my experience, as head of the Discipline and Ethics Committee, I have found that there is a serious lack of congruity between the crime and the penalty."

"Since each student is given a hearing in front of faculty members of his own college, plus a student representative, there is no consistency between these committees, although they serve in good faith. I have also noticed that very often the consideration of the individual student is lacking. When this occurs, I feel that we are no longer functioning as we should in our position as a university. I have proposed a Student Court that will supplement these separate faculty committees in many cases."

"Since we had such success with the Men's Housing Regulations working for revision in a joint faculty-student committee, I have requested that a joint faculty-student committee be formed for consideration of this Court. President Halsey has complied with my request by naming an eight man committee. There will be four faculty members, including Dr. Pettitjean and Mr. Stanley, and four students, including Bill Sinclair of Men's Senate, myself and Mr. Strong from Student Council and a member of Women's Senate to be named. I will serve as student chairman of this committee."

These two ideas that I have put forth are the basic changes that I feel are necessary for the general good of the student body and pledge myself to work for their initiation."

Clinton Strong

Clinton Strong Candidate for President

Clinton H. Strong, a candidate for president of Student Council, is 22 years old, and a Political Science major. He is a native of Shelton, Conn.

Strong has been active in campus activities and has been a member of Men's Senate, Student Council, Men's Court of Shelton Hall, Delta Tau Kappa fraternity, the Connecticut Inter-collegiate Student Legislature, the Student Life Committee, and the Ethics and Discipline Committee. He has also been the public relations chairman of Men's Senate and the chairman of the Constitution Committee of the History Society. He is also a dean's list student.

In athletics, Strong has won a varsity letter in wrestling (at Wesleyan University) and cross-country.

In his platform, Strong states:

"The candidate elected to Student Council is also the president of the student body. If elected, I will represent the students to the administration, faculty and all visitors to the University in such a manner as to better our standing and increase our respect. The statements and ideas that I portray to University visitors will be designed to implant respect and confidence in the students of this University."

"The first point of my platform is to obtain adequate lighting facilities on all streets near the girls' dorms. The administration feels that the lighting is sufficient; however, I do not. Should an accident or crime ever occur, lights will quickly be placed in all dark places, but I feel that action should be taken before an unfortunate episode takes place. Hindsight has no place in a legislative body."

"It is my opinion from past experience on Council that the student voice is seriously lacking at Council meetings. If elected, I will make it my personal responsibility to periodically speak to the presidents of various organizations for a poll of their ideas and suggestions for a better Student Council. I will work closely with the governing bodies and AHSBD because I feel that these groups are extremely close to the students and their ideas will be a great assistance in creating a functional Student Council."

"As president I will both initiate and accept ideas and legislation. Individual group autonomy will be respected and upheld. I will also print a Student Council newsletter that will summarize Council issues and stir more interest in the student body. Entertainment on campus will be turned to student tastes and designed to keep students on campus over the weekends."

"It is extremely difficult for any university to build its name and prestige when students find more entertaining pastimes off-campus. If this week-end exodus can be eradicated, our campus can function as a community and our respect in the nation enhanced."

Candidates for Vice-President Jerry M. Feldman - Jerry Feldman

Jerry M. Feldman, one of two candidates for vice-president of Student Council, is a 19 year-old sophomore from Brooklyn. He is a Political Science major and participates in athletics as a member of the varsity tennis team.

Feldman has served the University as the sophomore class president, as a member of Student Council and as a member of the Ethics and Discipline committee. He is also a member of the Spanish club, SOS fraternity, the Political Relations Forum, the Sociology Colloquium and the C.I.S.L.

Feldman gave the following statement to the Scribe:

"During the past year I have served on the Student Council as sophomore president. While participating in Council duties, I gained a great deal of experience in student government. Because I do have this experience, I feel qualified to run for the office of Student Council vice-president."

"In the past the office of vice-president was one of limited duties. I have some new ideas which would expand these duties and make the vice-president a more meaningful office. The main duty of the vice-president is that of working very closely with the president. The next major duty is being ex-officio head of all standing committees. Besides these two major duties, he is limited in his activity. I feel that we should make this office more elastic thus giving to the vice-president more responsibility."

"As of now I have a few ideas which, if elected, I intend to carry out. The one deals with registration. We all know the problems that face us when we go to register. I have a plan of pre-registration. This plan has been shown and discussed with Dean Kern. He has stated by the Spring of 1963 that this plan or one similar will become effective. The Second idea is about Freshman Week. The Student Council allocates close to two thousand dollars to this week. This money should be paid by the administration. This has been discussed, but as of now, no action has been taken. I would like to see this changed by next year."

"In conclusion I would like to say that both the president and vice-president represent you to all visitors. I am sure that you would want a team of officers

Jerry Feldman, candidate for vice-president of Student Council, is a junior majoring in history and comes from Brooklyn, New York.

He is secretary of POC Fraternity, Minister of GPT, a member of the Historical Society and varsity basketball team.

Feldman stated "It is a privilege and honor for me to be able to run for the vice-presidency of Student Council."

In my three years at the University I have gained a closeness to the student body and through this I truly feel that I can be a voice of the people. By taking part in many of the activities on campus, I have gained a great

Science Fair Here Friday

The annual science fair will be held tomorrow and Saturday in Dana Hall, Hugo James, instructor of Biology has announced.

Students from grades 7-12 will enter exhibits in the fair, which is the fifth to be held on the University campus. The entrants enter either singly or in teams of two, but only individual exhibits are eligible for the grand award.

Entries are varied, and may include plants, animals, microscopic organisms, and so forth. Prizes for these exhibits are awarded on the following bases:

1. Scientific approach to the problem.
2. Originality of concept and research.
3. Clarity and vigor of presentation.
4. Ingenuity of construction and technical skill and workmanship.
5. Through understanding of exhibit and related materials.

Mrs. Cornelia Munroe will be Science Liaison Officer for the two-day fair, assisting James in the coordination of the event. Also helping out will be the members of Circle K.

Biology Teacher To Do Research

Mrs. Cornelia Jean Munroe, instructor in biology, has been invited to attend the Summer Research Participation Program at Oregon State University this summer.

Mrs. Munroe will do research in radioactive tracer materials and she will be the recipient of full educational support for her project. The program will run from June 18 to August 17.

A graduate of the University of Texas with a B.A. and an M.A. degree, Mrs. Munroe joined the University faculty in September, 1961.

Pledging - To What Purpose?

Once again pledge week has come and gone, new batches of "bosom buddies" have been initiated into the fraternities and sororities on campus, and things are settling down to a reasonable facsimile of normality again.

For two solid weeks, the earnest pledges paraded in front of old Alumni Hall, singing, throwing eggs, and in general making complete fools out of themselves. Such conduct was not very funny or even mildly amusing. In fact, it was rather revolting.

Some of the pledge activities made one ask how anybody in his right mind would lower himself to such indignities. The stock answer (given by a determined and starry-eyed brother) is usually that there is a purpose to it all. Unfortunately, no one can really seem to pinpoint this "purpose," and several pledges who were asked why they were pledging could give no definite answer.

If we must have pledging on campus, why not have the prospective members of the various fraternities and sororities do something constructive, instead of running around in ridiculous costumes that only reflect a high-schoolish attitude on the part of the social organizations? Some fraternities have already started this, but others are only bent on having a good laugh by devising weird pledge activities that mean absolutely nothing.

Instead of "hell week," the two weeks of pledging could very well be spent in the community or on the campus, assisting in projects that must be done. There is plenty of work to do, and one of the best ways fraternities and sororities can promote the University is by helping in the city. This should be standard procedure each semester, and it is not unlikely that more people will be able to see the purpose to these organizations if they give more time to others and less time to needless and bizarre pledge shows.

We Want Your Comments

We wish to thank all our readers for their response to the Bribe. Most of the comments were favorable, and faculty and students alike seemed to enjoy reading the once-a-year issue.

We would appreciate any comments you might have concerning the paper of last week. Actually, we would appreciate comments concerning the Scribe in general. Many complaints have been voiced, but no one has thought to come to the editors with them. No one has even responded to our editorial of March 22, in which we asked for constructive criticism on the Scribe, so we can only assume that the student body is either satisfied with the paper or too lazy to act.

VOTE!!

Today and tomorrow are big campus days, as we will be electing our student leaders for next year. There is not too much to be said, for we have already had many articles and editorial comments on voting.

But vote you must, or you cannot call yourself a loyal student. We hope the turnout today and tomorrow will be the largest ever. Think before you vote — but vote!

NSA ON CAMPUS

by Gene Gordon
NSA Coordinator

The next stage in this semester's NSA Evaluation Program is a debate to be held on Monday, April 9, in Alumni Hall, time and room to be announced later. The Evaluation Program will culminate in a campus-wide referendum in which the question of membership will be presented to students.

I might add that to reopen the question of membership at this point — after the University has maintained membership in NSA for 14 years — is amusing if not superfluous. Perhaps the greatest irony lies in the fact that at precisely the time when the University is in greatest need of national recognition, it chooses to consider withdrawal from the only nationally recognized student association.

Nevertheless, let us recapitulate the major arguments for and against membership in NSA as presented by Mr. Conroy and myself.

Gene Conroy makes these points: (1) The students of NSA concern themselves with a too-wide range of issues, "ranging from the abolition of HUAC to world disarmament." (2) NSA is "dictatorial," it represents falsely, and is of no value to the American student. (3) NSA is a political organization, and too far left. (4) At the yearly National Student Congress, delegates do not have time to vote on all resolutions. (5) The National Executive Committee does not keep accurate minutes. (6) "NSA will not tell their own members where they get contributions to the Association, nor can members find out from its officers what the total annual budget is."

Each of these charges can be refuted — and will be at the debate! I will, therefore, not take time to answer them now but will attempt to outline arguments for membership, irrespective of Mr. Conroy's allegations.

In recent weeks I have tried to show that membership in NSA is imperative because (1) NSA is a national association of students, the only one so recognized in this country and abroad. (2) The University must not isolate itself from the national academic community.

That is all — only two reasons, but reasons which encompass a world of reasoning. Some students here, in their concern over what they deem NSA's excessive liberalism, are wrathfully demanding a tragically mistaken solution. If we feel NSA to be too liberal or too conservative, the answer is not to withdraw but to reform, i.e., to make our views known in the councils where student issues are deliberated.

After failing for 14 years to

Vox Populi

Stab Taken At UB Clubs, Scholarships

To the Editors:

I write this letter as an appeal that I know will be heeded by the greatest majority of the student body. Once again the administration has, with malicious apathy, thwarted a project that would benefit every sincere student at the University. For too long has this administration strangled my attempts to establish a new worthwhile extra-curricular activity on our campus.

Not as a boast, but to give strength to my argument, I say that in the five years that I have matriculated at the University, I have had my photograph in the yearbook pictures of 27 different organizations. I was a member of many of these clubs for more than a semester. As I've said I don't state this as a boast, though I am justly proud — many of you can easily claim the same honor. But in recent semesters I have noticed with rising chagrin that the extra-curricular program at the University has not kept pace even with the building program at school.

It is true that our extra-curricular program is larger than our academic one — and a much more important asset to the University as a whole. But it is neither large enough nor comprehensive enough. The reason for this failure? — the not-yet-dead fascination our antiquated administration with grades and studies. All recognize that the highest honors of our school do not depend upon intellectual achievement. Does a student need an A average to be a Dana Scholar? Of course not. A regulation requiring A's would annihilate our school's personality leaders. If students spent all their time studying and getting A's instead of C's, what would become of the bowling alleys? Indeed — of the whole extra-curricular program.

Yet there still lingers on at the University those professors who place sentimental value in grades, those pernicious misrepresentations of a student's "true character." There are even those who consider grades more important than extra-curricular activities. To those I just ask — How many scholarships at the University have been given to scholars? It is my conviction that those who do not realize the need for increased emphasis on extra-curricular activities must be weeded out of the faculty and administration like crabgrass. Unless this is done, the Quietus Club will never be started on this campus.

You ask, "What is the Quietus Club?" I answer that this Club is an organization already established on the better and larger campuses across America. In fact it has received more ardent support than the political movements now sweeping the country — although both liberals and conservatives are incorporating the Club's objectives and activities. Simply, the Quietus Club is an organization in name only. Just

Personal Survey Reveals Extensive Cheating at UB

by Gene Conroy
Student Council President

Do you cheat? Why? Prompted by the recent series of articles in

The Scribe regarding cheating on campus and the various solutions offered I thought it might be of interest to make a survey of my own. I asked a large number of students if they cheated and if so why. I believe that the responses received are good indications of what is wrong with our educational system.

My classical reply was "Yes I cheat; I feel that it is an individual matter. If one can get through college with a degree by the use of a little mechanical aid, what's the difference? — Education demands ingenuity, many an exam requires rote memory. Let's face it, crib notes make things easy. I didn't start the practice of cheating, it was here long before I was. Millions have done it, millions are doing it and millions will continue to do it. Cheating is habit-forming. Cheat once, then twice, and so on, then try to stop. It's impossible."

Another UBite answered, "Sure I cheat — why not? Success in college is measured by grades, not knowledge. I get the best grades I can the easiest way I can."

"If I don't have time to study, I cheat. It's better than taking the pipe" was the response of one student.

One student replied "Well, it depends what you regard as cheating. I wouldn't use a gyp sheet or take a chance on

"Hawking" but for a lot of my courses old exams are out. The teachers are pretty lazy and nine times out of 10 give an old exam, I read the material, I know the facts but I'd be a fool not to take advantage of these exams."

If you are one of the vast majority of UB students who do not cheat, don't be shocked by these reactions, for most of the students I questioned said they did not and did not expect to cheat at UB.

Are these the reasons why these people cheat? I say no, it is simply because they are just too lazy to study. They just can't get up enough courage to open a book and maybe by chance pick up a little knowledge. Our country was not built by cheaters. The pioneers didn't know how to cheat the wilderness. There were no short cuts to freedom. Our country was built on a solid foundation, not one of misrepresentation.

The editors of The Scribe denounced cheating at UB, suggesting that we might possibly benefit more by having the exams ahead of time and studying for them. The Young Americans for Freedom have taken the suggestion of a UB student and included in their constitution a clause stating that any member of this organization found guilty of cheating shall be expelled from membership for one semester. I am not here to judge the merits of these proposals, but the latter seems like a step in the right direction. Cheating is a student disease and it is up to the students to supply a remedy. What's your suggestion? We know the basic motives for cheating. What can be done to remove them and substitute a desire for a 4-year education not a 4-year record of grades?

ON OTHER CAMPUSES

SAN JOSE STATE COLLEGE — The San Jose State College Democratic Club has offered $10 reward for proof that any dormitory resident at the college has adopted subversive ideas as a result of a bribe of money. The name of the briber must be given.

The offer follows a speech given by a state senator who charged that college dormitories are a likely place for subversion to breed. He said, "All those students together, many of them pressed for money — and maybe somebody slips them a few dollars once in a while. In a situation like this, it's pretty easy to see it."

The Democratic Club, however, doubts that any college students have been made subversives by a "few dollars." The Club's president described his group's offer as a "patriotic gesture." "Anyone who has been subverted for a 'couple of bucks' will certainly be eager to tell the truth for $10," he said.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY — The Stanford University student government recently voted its support of a plan to make the largest hall on the Stanford campus co-educational next fall. Two units of the hall, which now houses men only, will be converted into coed units for 40 women and 60 men. However, the males and females are going to be strictly limited in the amount of togetherness they may practice since "provision would be made to prevent passage between the upper floors of the two units involved."

Residents for the coed program will be volunteers. A questionnaire recently filled out by undergraduate women indicated that 170 would consider living in the coed units. Opinion on campus has been favorable to the idea. The Dean and Assistant Dean of Men have approved the plan.

One undergraduate woman student commented that integrated living eliminates "a lot of the tension which exists in many boy-girl relationships." Cost of converting the units to coed housing is estimated at $2,500, including the cost of installing bathtubs in the women's section.

Suggestion Offered for Tests During Pledge Period

by Lois Wiederschall

We shall begin this week's article by recreating a scene on the University campus that took place about two weeks ago (the first week of pledging): the place, a typical University classroom; the time, during a class period; the actors, the students of the class. Action: the students, having been informed the previous week that there will be a mid-semester examination today, have spent several hours preparing for the test, and are now awaiting the arrival of the instructor.

The instructor enters the classroom, and to the disappointment and dismay of the students, announces, "There will be no mid-semester examination today. I have received instructions to postpone the examination until next week (the week of formal pledging)."

We would like to know what happened to the agreement made last semester between the faculty and IFC stating that mid-semester examinations would be held before the week of March 19, that sororities and fraternities would postpone pledging until this time, and that the instructors fail to schedule mid-semester tests before March 19, but they scheduled them during the first week of informal pledging, and then postponed them to the last week of formal pledging.

This situation can be viewed from several different perspectives. First, the instructor, evidently not aware of the agreement, scheduled a test, and then with the best intentions, in order to alleviate the students' plight, changed the date of the test, thus causing him to upset his regular teaching schedule.

Second, the sororities and fraternities who had agreed to postpone pledging in order to allow pledges to complete their studying for mid-semester examinations before pledging began, found that the pledges, bombarded with mid-semester tests in the middle of pledging, had to either do poorly on the tests or take time out from pledging to study.

Third, the pledge, who had taken time out from his pledging responsibilities in order to study for mid-semester examinations, discovered he would have to repeat this process again the following week in the middle of formal pledging.

Fourth, the independent, who had spent many hours studying for the mid-semester examination, thus having to fall behind in his work for other courses, found that he would have to give up more time a week later to again study for the same test, and thus lose more study time from his other courses.

Is there anything worse than walking into a class adequately prepared to take an examination, and then finding out that the test has been postponed?

The current situation can be attributed to several misunderstandings. The first was caused by the members of the faculty not being cognizant of the agreement and hence, not abiding by the plan. The second occurred when, in the attempt to remedy the situation, tests were rescheduled, inadvertently making the situation worse. Rescheduling an examination after the class has prepared for it, and rescheduling it for a time which is equally as bad for the pledges, if not worse, must certainly have been due to a misunderstanding. What possible gain could be had from postponing the test?

We're certain that the students appreciate the time and work spent on the part of members of

UB to Participate in National Library Week

For the fourth consecutive year the Carlson Library will participate in National Library Week from April 9-16 by displaying all books published by faculty members since March of the preceding year. These books may be seen in the first floor hallway.

The office of student personnel will sponsor a display in the catalogue room of the library on April 11, 12 and 13, Sandra Castaldo of student personnel announced recently.

The display will offer various summer opportunities for students; included are summer work possibilities overseas, travel opportunities abroad and unusual summer school sessions in various countries.

Hobart Pardee of the student placement office and Miss Castaldo will be on hand to explain the displays and give suggestions and advice concerning the summer availabilities.

Also appearing in the catalogue room are books on India. This display is related to Jacqueline Kennedy's trip to that country. Old maps of the world, reprinted from originals, can also be found in this room.

Publications of Bern Dibner, a member of the Board of Trustees of the University, and the founder of the Burndy Library, may be seen at the entrance of the Carlson Library.

The displays found in the Carlson Library all follow a theme—that of a culture or of our campus or world calendar, according to Louis Ice, University librarian. The average display remains in the library about three weeks, he said.

The Spanish Club, under the direction of Dr. Emilio Clocchiatti, will present a movie entitled "Manolete" on Wednesday, April 4, at 1 p.m. in the basement of Dana Hall. This unusual movie will be shown under the direction of Angelo Cocco, president, and Steve Simpson, publicity manager. All are welcome.

Why We Say--

BUNDLE OF STICKS: This name for Mussolini's party in Italy came from the old Roman symbol of a bundle of sticks bound together with the blade of an ax protruding (the same as on the back of a U. S. dime). This device called "fasces" and was carried by Roman judges as a symbol that they could flog or behead wrongdoers. Mussolini took it as a sign of power.

Student Poll

Opinion Split on Possibility Of Honor System Here

Several students were recently interviewed by The Scribe in an effort to discover if there is any general consensus of opinion concerning the possibilities of initiating an all-university honor system on this campus.

Some of the comments, which are shown below, display the wide diversification of student opinion on this matter.

Frank Pisano, a senior majoring in marketing: "An honor system at this University would help the school and give the students responsibility. If this honor system were instituted, it would have to cover all aspects of school life, not just the girls' dorms, as is now the case."

Carol Block, a junior majoring in education: "Many students have incorporated cheating into their daily program. Plagiarizing and 'hawking' are no longer the exception, but rather the rule, to many students. An honor system can be established only with the full cooperation of the student body. If the students get behind an honor system, the 'hawks' will get their wings clipped."

Mike Walter, a sophomore majoring in political science: "I don't think the honor system will work, nor do I think it is necessary. Honor systems don't work in general, because they don't take into account the fatal human element of survival of the fittest. Few people would abide by it, and most would cast it aside if it meant that they could get a higher grade."

Ken Babel, a junior majoring in political science: "The honor system is a farcical thing, and should never be initiated at this institution. If students are going to cheat, then an honor system will only make it easier for them to do so."

Mario Verde, a senior majoring in secondary education: "What! Are you kidding?"

Bill Romeo, a senior majoring in industrial journalism: "As long as there is such a large emphasis on marks by the educational program at the University the honor system would just make it more convenient for the cheater."

Edward Feuchtwanger, a senior majoring in history: "As an ideal, an honor system is great, but in practice it would definitely diminish the number of flunk-outs at the University."

Joel Brown, a junior majoring in history: "This question is out of the question!"

Fashion Conference Tomorrow

The Junior College of Connecticut at the University will conduct an all-day fashion merchandising conference for Connecticut high school students on Friday, April 6.

The career institute is for the benefit of high school juniors and seniors expressing a desire in exploring fashion merchandising as a vocation, according to Mrs. Hazel Kent, chairman of the fashion merchandising department at the University.

The conference will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until 3:30 p.m. in the new Junior College Building.

The program will include: welcome, Earle M. Bigsbee, dean of the Junior College; "Student Life, Fashion Merchandising Curriculum and Activities at UB," student panel; "Four Year Fashion Merchandising Curriculum," Dr. Eaton V.W. Read, Dean of the College of Business Administration; "Opportunities in Retailing as a Career," panel of graduates; and "Admission Requirements," Dr. Donald W. Kern, Dean of Admissions.

The student panel includes Joan Marsh, Diane Perna, Lynn Freihofer and Susan Roxenberg. Members of the graduate panel are Gail Marks, Crystal Ackerman, Patricia Rooney and Julie Bongiorno.

NAILS: "You vote, John?" John: "Of course I voted; all I did was put my 'X' next to Sultan's name and someone put this trophy in my hands." Nails: "Funny—I put my 'X' next to Strong's name and the same thing happened." John: "Come on—let's try it again—maybe we'll get the same deal with the vice-presidents."

Light Verse Contest Open To Students

Two hundred fifty dollars in cash prizes are being offered by A. S. Barnes & Co., 128-year old book publisher of New York for the best four to eight-line light verses written by college students in the form of the stanzas contained in "The Shrewd Nude" & Other Light Versus & Dark" by John Milton Hagen, California writer.

Purpose of the contest is to encourage the use of the unique first-word rhymes as employed in A. S. Barnes' "The Shrewd Nude," probably the first new versification departure in centuries. W. Somerset Maugham, Ogden Nash, Jimmy Durante, Eleanor Roosevelt, S. Omar Barker and others have praised the bizarre verses which are now headed for a third printing and which have been enthusiastically reviewed from coast to coast.

Rules of the contest: All verses to be limited to eight lines, first-word rhymed, one entry to a contestant, no verses will be returned if not published, end of contest June 30, 1962. All stanzas to be addressed to "The Shrewd Nude," in care of A. S. Barnes & Co., 11 East 36 St., New York 16, N. Y. Contest is open to all college students, but college comic contributors are particularly urged to compete.

STUDENT PLACEMENT

The Student Placement office has a number of full-time and part-time jobs available.

For any girl interested in being a mother's helper this summer, there are two positions open. Both are for people willing to live-in. One is in Westport, taking care of three children, with no housework. The other is in East Norwalk and involves light housework and care of four children.

There is also a full-time position for an adjuster in the installment finance field. This job is with the Credit Corporation of Bridgeport.

The Bridgeport Gas Company is looking for a Business Administration major with an accounting background to handle customer accounts, auditing, and so forth on a full-time basis.

There is also a part-time job open at Sears and Roebuck. The hours can be adjusted to the student's convenience.

your name will secure you the same benefits other clubs on campus now offer. The Club will not actively pursue any specific project — though the Club is always open for suggestions. History majors are familiar with the Know Nothings; we will be the Do Nothings. The Club offers special advantages to leaders who have a command of propaganda techniques and parliamentary procedure. No quorum is necessary for meetings, as most students find attendance at any club meeting an inconvenience. Membership is determined on the fraternity basis of overall acceptability. As for the University we have not yet decided whether to make it strictly for Jews or Anti-semitics. At any rate, as we've said, it will be run on the congenial fraternity basis.

Naturally your picture will appear in the year book. This is known to be the greatest advantage in securing acceptance into a graduate school. Funds for all abortive activities will, like all school activities, come out of the Student Council treasury. Once again I mention that no minimum QPR is necessary for Club acceptance. Yet, fulltime membership in the Quietus will in itself be sufficient to obtain any school award or grant.

The ridiculous answer given by the administration in refusing my proposal is an "inadequate supply of teacher-moderators." Some would have us believe that the school's professors are already overloaded with class schedules and special activities. This only emphasizes the absurdity of academic regulations and classes at the college level.

Yet I was assured that the University's policy is becoming more mature. In a short time, classes of the traditional — provincial nature and all grades will be eliminated as superficial. The student will then be free to devote his entire four years and even graduate studies exclusively to clubs like the Quietus.

Such is bound to come; all indications point to it. And I for one will say, "Thank God; those who come after us will now be spared the vile hypocrisy of academic life."

Conroy Favors Sultan for SC President

To the Editors:

Being president of Student Council of the University is a job which requires the endurance of an Olympic decathlon champion, the political know-how of a Carmine DeSapio and the diplomacy of the secretary of state.

Today and tomorrow you will be given the opportunity to elect the student who will fill this role. I probably have more interest in this election than any other student at the University. During the past year and a half I have tried to build up your student government to a plateau where it would command the respect of the students, faculty and administration. In some small way I have been able to accomplish this, and would like to continue under the direction of Arthur P. Sultan.

To be brief and to the point, he is the most qualified candidate to be found at the University. Sultan has a vast knowledge of the S.C., the University and current events. To be more specific, Sultan has been my right hand man this past year, he is fully aware of my basic policies and ideas and will carry on in this tradition. Sultan possesses the ability to present both himself and the students' ideas in a clear, forceful manner.

Arthur Sultan speaks out on issues, he takes a stand, and in doing so he has made certain enemies. Many historians and political scientists agree that in the course of our nation the most qualified men have not been elected President merely because they were active and made enemies. Don't let this happen at the University; vote for Arthur P. Sultan for president of Student Council.

APO, KBR Win Contest

In the recent contest sponsored by the Philip Morris Tobacco Company, Alpha Phi Omega won first prize, a Webcor stereophonic console phonograph, by accumulating 31,500 points. Kappa Beta Rho took second prize, a Philco FM table radio, by accumulating 28,055 points.

The contest consisted of collecting empty cigarette packs. Five points were given for every Marlboro, Parliament, or Alpine pack. Ten points were given for every Philip Morris pack. This is the second consecutive contest won by the brothers of APO which is a national service fraternity, with over 300 chapters.

Fall Activities Forms Ready For Calendar

The Alumni Hall Student Board of Directors is now planning publication of the student activities calendar for the fall semester, 1962.

Any group desiring to have its activities (open) listed on this calendar are asked to fill out a calendar form. These forms may be obtained and left filled out at the reception desk in the Student Center or at the AHSBD office, room 202. Forms must be turned in on or before May 16, 1962.

Only open affairs (those to which any student may attend if he so desires) will be listed on this calendar; the AHSBD will greatly appreciate student cooperation on this matter.

STUDENT EXHIBIT

Winners Announced for Sports Car Club Rally

Sports Car Club president Dan Isaacs has announced the winners of the time-distance rally held Sunday, March 25. The rally roads ran through Bridgeport, Trumbull, Dodginton, Bethel, Redding, Reddingridge and Fairfield.

First place winners were Albert Schwartz and James Nova of the Yankee Sports Car Club. Second place went to Charles De Saussure and Courtenay Austin of the University's Sports Car Club. Third place winners were Randy Malm and Terry Hat. Trophies for the winners of this event will be awarded at a future meeting.

On April 7, at 8:30 a.m. there will be a drivers' school at Lime Rock, Isaacs has also announced.

The touring school is run each year to teach all sports car owners to drive their cars properly at speed in an attempt to improve their highway driving skills. It also provides owners with the opportunity to drive the Lime Rock course, endangering their lives and cars no more so than on the public highway. All drivers will get personal instruction from experienced race drivers, Isaacs said.

Competition school is also provided for the person interested in racing his automobile.

Yankee Sports Car Club will hold a fox hunt on Sunday, April 8, at the Merrit Parkway, exit 51. Registration will be at noon, and the first car will leave at 1 a.m. Anyone who wishes to enter this event is invited to do so.

The Alumni Hall Student Board of Directors will sponsor a "Coffee and" hour from 2 to 4 p. m. on Thursday, April 12. The coffee hour will be held in the private dining room of the Student Center.

National Politics

Let the Best Man Win

by Bill Romeo
Assistant Editor

A wave of patriotism seems to be sweeping over many of the nation's colleges and universities. It is good to see such ambitious support of our country's doctrines during this uncertain period of world tension. If the United States is to succeed in maintaining economic and military leadership, it needs the backing of educated, intelligent people.

Unfortunately, some people are of the mistaken opinion that one must be a religious conservative in order to wave the flag of freedom. There is ample room on the chauvinistic bandwagon for middle-of-the roaders who earnestly believe in, and seek peaceful co-existence between the Soviets and ourselves.

We are faced with two enormous forces, conflicting in doctrine and moral precepts. Each of these forces firmly dictates that their own ideology is best, and will inevitably gain such wide approval that its counterpart will fall into submission.

We fight the battle through economic aid, foreign under-developed resource stimulation, the Peace Corps, attempts at favorable diplomacy, United Nations meetings and the spreading of the doctrine of freedom. Russia uses propaganda, infiltration and subversive techniques.

It has been evidenced throughout history that the methods supported by a few will eventually fall prey to the methods desired by many. People all over the world are basically the same; only dictators and fanatics have principles of conquest and destruction, differing from those views of the masses. Thus, the Lenninist-Marxist axiom of the masses will overthrow their oppressors shall hold true, but remember who the real oppressors of truth and freedom are.

With the American people's support of her economy and rising nationalistic spirit, the United States will inevitably win.

Our country was conceived with an enlightened government; it has faults, as we all know, but through its functioning this young nation has grown to immense proportions with the necessary approval and determination of its people. Through the continued, improving policies of government, the U.S. will expand morally and economically to prove to totalitarian systems that we will be the ultimate victor.

Mistake will be the only cause for nuclear war. Neither the Soviets nor the Americans want or seek destruction, as massive retaliation will assuredly be the consequence. Therefore, it is a primary battle of economics and ideologies in both areas — ours are validly superior. Through the operation of these fundamental, conflicting concepts will arise the victor. It is a matter of time.

Instead of hiding our heads in the sand like an ostrich, relying on isolationist security, or placing undue emphasis on "the communist menace at home," it is imperative that we hold to our principles, co-exist, shake hands and let the best man win.

COLLEGE STUDENTS IN THE VACATION RIOTS

What touches off the vicious vacation riots in resort towns from coast to coast? What madness causes the drunkenness, open immorality, violent battles with police? What sudden mob impulse can motivate a crowd of 30,000 educated young men and women into a rampage of destruction? Perhaps it's a new way to "let off steam" . . . a savage kind of self-expression. But why are so many college students—presumably the nation's most "adult" and sophisticated young people—involved? Why do they knowingly risk their futures, even their lives for a few hours of wild abandon? In the new April McCall's, don't miss the unbelievable, yet true, report on the spread of this insane activity . . . the terrible price you may have to pay if you're involved . . . and how you can help stop the insanity.

Men's Senate

Unhand Those Vending Machines!

Herb Rippee

Continuing our movie policy, Men's Senate will show "Grapes of Wrath," on Saturday, April 7, in the Dana Hall Lecture Room.

At the last Senate meeting, Clint Strong and Arthur Sultan, candidates for president of Student Council, discussed and debated their platforms very intelligently. Any student who does not know these candidates should make an attempt to meet them or read a poster containing their platform. The elections will be held on April 6 and 7.

Recently, one of the vending machines in Shelton Hall was broken into and vandalized. As a result, the owner of the machines has threatened to remove all of them. Senate pleaded with the owner for one more chance and he finally yielded. But, if any of these machines are tampered with in the future, he will certainly take action.

SC Allocation Forms Ready

All clubs and organizations wishing to receive an allocation from Student Council for 1962-63 should pick up their allocation forms in the mail folder at the reception desk in the Student Center, Thomas Campbell, Student Council treasurer, has announced.

These forms must be completed and left in the Student Council office, second floor, Alumni Hall, by Friday, May 4. All check vouchers for expenses past, present or future, for the year 1961-62 have to be completed and in the Student Council office. Any expenses not accounted for by this time shall be considered personal, and will not be paid for out of the organization's account, Campbell said.

Any club or organization must have a constitution on file in order to receive funds from Student Council. This constitution must be approved by William C. Wright, Director of Student Activities, before it will be considered valid, Campbell stated.

Student Court Is Planned

The discipline procedure for the University calls for a separate faculty committee of three from each college. The philosophy behind this is that the student can be heard by members of the faculty from his own college. These three faculty members, in line with the Student Bill of Rights allow one student to sit as judge at these hearings.

I have, by virtue of my position as Chairman of the Discipline and Ethics Committee of Student Council, been the only student allowed to vote in these cases for the past year and a half. These faculty members have made every attempt to be fair to the particular student.

Unfortunately, because there are six separate and distinct committees, there are also six separate and distinct courts, therefore, there is no continuity between these faculty committees. It has been my opinion that some of these committees have been too lenient, whereas others have been entirely too strict. A student that may be acquitted before one of the colleges will be subject to suspension before another. This inconsistency is neither an aid to the individual student, nor something that the University can be proud of.

We, as a university, must be concerned with the progress of the individual student. The penalties, if they must be levied, should be some form of a corrective rather than a strict punishment. This concept of a corrective punishment, designed for the particular situation and student is sorely lacking.

Thinking about the many hours that I have spent at these hearings has made me dissatisfied with the situation as it exists now. In line with the idea of expanding student government to a three part plan, we have proposed an all-student court.

We realized that this would be a totally new concept at the University, so we asked President Halsey to form a joint student-faculty committee to consider the initiation and place of this court. President Halsey, as he did in the conflict over Men's Housing, agreed to form this committee. He has named four faculty members, including Mr. Stanley and Dr. Pettitjean, and four students, including: Jo-Ann Lipton, President of Women's Senate; William Sinclair, vice president of Men's Senate; and an additional member of Student Council to be named. I will serve as student chairman of this committee. These meetings will start in the very near future.

The question that should arise is "What exactly is this Court and what will it do?" I have offered a rough draft as an amendment to the Student Council Constitution and will quote from it and show its advantages. The court will be made up of six student judges, who will vote, and a presiding justice, who will be responsible for calling the court to session and presiding over it. This plan will remove the lack of consistency between the faculty committees that now exist. The judges will be subject to close scrutiny before they are considered.

"Part (c) 1. Each member of the Court shall satisfy the following requirements: A. He shall be a full time day student at the University of Bridgeport and shall have attained Junior status. B. He must have accumulated at least 30 credits at the University. C. He shall hold no other executive position, but may be a member of any other campus organization. D. Three of the six members will be independent students, while the remaining three may represent any fraternal group, but not more than once."

We feel that requirements such as these will enable the finest students to be chosen. How will they be appointed? "It shall be the president of Student Council's responsibility to nominate students that have a record that is commensurate with their posts and responsibilities. These nominees will be presented to Student Council at open meeting, where any member of Council or the student body may speak and question them. Council must then approve the nomination by a two-thirds affirmative vote. The judge will then serve for the remainder of his college career."

It is my confirmed belief that a student government in our school must assume three parts. Council, itself, is legislative, the proposed coordinating committee is executive and the Court is judicial.

A.S.

"HEY GRISELDA, who'd you vote for?" "I cannot say. Bubbles, for you see, the democratic system under which we live in this great land says that the vote should always be made by closed ballot, thus allowing the voter the opportunity to reserve the right not to divulge his choice of candidate to anyone—psst—I forgot to vote." ## STUDENT POLL

Bob Gedney, a senior majoring in industrial journalism: "Having formerly attended a university that had a complete honor system, I can honestly say that the University would be much better off if it were to initiate a program of this type. Where I went to school, anybody in the room could turn you in for cheating, and this fear of being caught (and possibly expelled by a student judiciary board) kept cheating at an absolute minimum. The amount of cheating that goes on here at the University (including girls) is unbelievable."

Narcek Ringawa, a sophomore majoring in history: "The need for instituting an honor system isn't necessary, and it will not foster personal integrity in the students. I think that cheating will be intensified under an honor system."

send delegates to the National Student Congress, and then to have the audacity to scream that NSA does not represent us is ridiculous, irresponsible and criminal. If the University is so lacking in maturity and cannot assume its proper responsibilities, it should withdraw not only from NSA but from the matter of education entirely.

A vote for continued NSA membership (with full participation, I should hope) is a vote for a mature, responsible University with national stature in the student community. A vote for withdrawal is a backward step to short-sighted provincialism, a regression to a childish isolation, a hiding of our heads in the sand.

We have, up to now, heard only from the critics of NSA. The referendum will allow us to hear from the students who will prove that the University's mind is not "really that shallow."

WRA

the University's administration and faculty in setting up a plan to alleviate conflict between mid-semester examinations and pledging. Many people made every effort possible to insure success of this plan but there was a lack of communication concerning the situation.

A suggestion for next year is that if such an agreement is made, there be careful, long-range planning; the faculty should be notified of the overall plan for mid-semester examinations at the beginning of the semester in order that they may adjust their plans accordingly if they so desire; and this plan should receive widespread campus publicity in order to secure best results for all concerned.

McLAUGHLIN PITCHES NO-HITTER

First in UB History

by Dick Sharpe

On Saturday, March 31, UB's Mike McLaughlin pitched a no-hit, no-run, 2-0 victory over Hunter College at the loser's field. He struck out 14 while walking just six batsmen. Only in the seventh and eighth innings did McLaughlin run into trouble, when he walked two batters.

Going into the ninth with a scoreless duel, Yellen of Hunter and McLaughlin were in complete control of the game. In the top of the ninth with one away, Tom Celestino singled and was sacrificed to second by third base co-captain Al Koperwhats. Nick Gennaro, co-captain and center fielder, then beat out an infield hit to put runners on first and third with two away, and Rich Conetta the next hitter.

On the first pitch from Yellen, Gennaro stole second to put runners on second and third. At this time Conetta solidly singled to center to score Celestino and Gennaro. In the last half of the ninth, McLaughlin quickly retired the side to become the first varsity pitcher in UB history to hurl a no-hitter.

During the game only one ball was hit to the UB outfield and that was in the fifth inning when Gennaro made a spectacular running catch to rob the Hawks batsman of a two-base hit.

The Purple Knights' next game is on Saturday when they travel to New London to play the U.S. Coast Guard Academy.

AGP Intramural Basketball Champs

Alpha Gamma Phi fraternity became intramural basketball champs of the University Monday night when they squeezed by the Aces, 55-54, in the last two seconds of play.

In probably the best-played and most exciting game of the intramural season AGP came on strong from the first, but the Aces' big gun, John Carsun, began hitting soon after and at halftime the score was tied at 25 all.

The second half of the game was nip and tuck all the way and the final minute of play saw AGP down by five points. An amazing shovel-type, left-handed hook by Gus Haita, a foul shot and another field goal evened things up and the game once again seesawed into the final seconds.

With two seconds remaining AGP behind by one point, took the ball out at their own end of the court and flipped it to Dan Santisario in the left corner. He jumped and hit the twines just as the final buzzer sounded, giving the game to AGP by a score of 55-54.

Carsun of the Aces was high scorer for the night with 19 points. Also scoring for the Aces were Mike McCarthy, 10, Anatol Mihailoff, nine, Ray Vlader, six, Gary Englander, six, Joe Vige, four.

Top scorer for AGP was the man who pulled in the win, Santisario; he scored 18 points. Also for AGP were Bill Brew and Haita with 10 apiece, Dan Ruskin with nine, John Kopka with four and Larry Babbitt and Darragh Harlow who each netted two.

AGP was presented with a trophy for the championship win and it will be displayed in the trophy case at the entrance to the Gym.

A SWEET BIRDIE!

It sounds funny describing a successful run of a motion picture, but it's the truth! "LOVER COME BACK" is now in its 8th record week. No need to go into details because, if you haven't seen this fine romantic comedy, you should before Tennessee Williams' newest film comes flying in. The title of this new picture, our next attraction, is "SWEET BIRD OF YOUTH," soon to be presented at
